

SESSION LASTED LESS THAN WEEK

Maine Legislature Passed 34 Bills and Nine Resolutions

INCLUDING APPROVAL OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Session Which Opened on Tuesday Was Adjourned Early To-day

Augusta, Me., Nov. 8.—The special session of the legislature, which opened last Thursday, was finally adjourned early to-day. Thirty-four acts and nine resolutions, including one ratifying the federal constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote, were passed.

LEAVES MONEY TO "FRIEND."

New York, Nov. 8.—The will of Theodore P. Shonts, who was president of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, was filed for probate here yesterday. After making provision for various members of his family, the residuary estate is left to "my friend," Amanda C. Thomas of 930 Park avenue. The will was fixed by De Lancey Nicolai, who was Mr. Shonts' attorney.

The widow of Mr. Shonts was granted temporary letters of administration upon the estate Thursday by Surrogate Fowler. She estimated that her husband left property worth nearly $500,000 and declared that no will could be found, although a thorough search had been made. Mrs. Shonts expressed fear that the major part of the property might go to another woman. The will left to Mrs. Shonts a life insurance policy for $5,000 and a portrait of Mr. Shonts by Prince Troubetzkoy. The document stated that Mrs. Shonts was provided for in an agreement executed in 1917, and for that reason the will made no further provision for her except the acknowledged indebtedness to her of $100,000 payable five months after Shonts' death.

The will leaves all of the jewelry "given to me by my friend, Amanda C. Thomas, to her son, Herbert Thomas."

A bequest of $1,500 is left to Ivan Bell and one $2,000 to "my friend," Louise Yeoman.

According to the will a trust fund of $50,000 each previously had been created for the two daughters, and Mr. Shonts directed that the income of another fund of $100,000 be divided equally between them during their lives. Upon their death it will revert to their next kin.

SOUTH WOODBURY

Mrs. Bert Crinion of North Dakota, who has been spending a few weeks with her brother, R. B. Tassie, went on Sunday to Barre.

Archie Bullard of Plymouth, N. H., spent the week end with friends here. Gertrude Morse, who has been working in East Montpelier for several weeks, returned to her home last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Goodell were recent visitors in Hardwick.

W. H. Watkins is spending a few weeks with relatives in Massachusetts. Mr. Hayward of Williamstown is working in the creamery.

Mrs. Myrtle Lance, Mrs. L. E. Wells and Mrs. J. A. Morse spent Thursday last week in Hardwick.

Several from here attended the Halloween party at Woodbury last week Friday evening.

Mrs. Abbie Babcock went to St. Johnsbury Monday, where she has employment for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Thurston and children started for Malden, Mass., last Tuesday. Mr. Thurston has rented his farm to L. J. Benjamin.

Mrs. F. L. Thompson gave a Halloween party to the young people last Friday night, which was much enjoyed by them.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Daniels of Granville were over-Sunday guests of relatives here.

Mrs. L. J. Benjamin and Mrs. A. E. Ainsworth were visitors in Hardwick Saturday.

R. B. Tassie went on Wednesday to North Hero, where he will visit for a few days.

An Important Provision.

Good election stories are not plentiful, especially new ones; but here's something that happened a few years ago that is rather amusing. The manager of a shipyard assembled his employees and told them that they might vote in a municipal election just as they pleased.

"In fact, I shan't even tell you how I am going to vote," he said; then added: "After it is all over, I shall have a keg of beer brought into the yard. (Hurra! Hurra! shouted the men.) But I shan't tap it unless Mr. Blank gets in."—Boston Transcript.

If too much salt has been added to any dish, a little sugar will often rectify the mistake.

When the season's supply of plain colored socks or stockings is purchased, mark them in pairs at top, using different colored thread or yarn for each pair. The wear will come evenly on each pair and they are more quickly mated after washing.

Try "caramel" as a dressing for mush, griddle cakes, sauces for puddings, icing for cakes, etc. This is made by cooking the sugar in a pan until it browns nicely or makes caramel. This may be made into a syrup by the addition of water and bottled for future use.

When Sugar Is Scarce.

If you are wise you will not use your last bit of sugar trusting to get more when the present supply is gone, but will avoid the possibility of totally sugarless days by making your small supply go as far as possible. This is the advice of home economics specialists in the U. S. department of agriculture.

Turn to your war conservation cookbooks and refresh your memory on ways to use the sugar substitutes. You will find many recipes for cakes, but most of them were built to save wheat as well as sugar. We have this cause for rejoicing at least: Though we must cut down our use of sugar we still have wheat for cake making and our old stand-bys in time of sugar stringency—molasses, corn syrup and honey—are still procurable.

The cakes made with syrup are not just like those made with sugar. In most cases they are less sweet. They do fill an emergency need for cake, however. The following recipes use but little sugar:

Chocolate Cake—1/4 cup fat, 3 tablespoons sugar (brown or white), 2 eggs, 1 cup corn syrup, 2 squares melted chocolate, 1/2 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1/2 cups wheat flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cream the fat and sugar, add the egg yolks, syrup and melted chocolate and beat well. Sift the dry ingredients together and add alternately with the milk. Add vanilla and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Bake in loaf or layers in a moderate oven.

For Frosting—Cook 1/2 cup corn syrup until it forms a long thread when dropped from a spoon. Pour over the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs and beat until thick enough to spread.

These little individual Spice Cakes, baked in muffin tins, are also very good—3 tablespoons fat, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 cup corn syrup, 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon spice, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/4 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup chopped raisins. Mix in order given.

These Oatmeal Drop Cookies are very good and they use no sugar—1/2 cup fat, 1/2 molasses, 1/2 cup corn syrup, 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups rolled oats, 1/2 cup raisins, 1/2 cup chopped nuts, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 teaspoon allspice. Mix and drop from a spoon on greased baking sheet. Bake in a quick oven.

Along this same line, remember that the old-fashioned gingerbread calls for no sugar. Why not serve it more often as an autumn dessert? It is delicious served warm with whipped cream.

TO RID TOWN OF ORGANIZERS

The Business Men of Johnstown, Pa., Gave Them a Few Hours to Leave

ARE "READY TO TAKE FURTHER ACTION"

William Z. Foster Was Forced to Leave Without Speaking

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 8.—Determined to "run organizers out of town," it is said, a committee of business men of the city this afternoon to leave Johnstown. Meanwhile, the city is quiet, but the committee is on the alert, and "ready to take further action" unless the organizers comply with the request, it is stated. The organizers are T. J. Conboy of the steel workers union and Dominick Gelotte of the united mine workers. Both were requested last night by the committee to leave the city after William Z. Foster, secretary of the national steel strike committee, was forced to leave Johnstown, where he was scheduled to speak before steel strikers. Conboy was given until 5 p. m. to-day to arrange his affairs, upon his assent to comply with the request. Gelotte, however, said he would not go, on the grounds that he is a resident of the county.

Mr. Foster is at Altoona, Pa., where he is to address steel strikers to-day.

The business men's committee of Johnstown was formed two weeks ago to take what action it could relative to the coal and steel strike situation here. It includes H. L. Tredonick, president of the chamber of commerce, and W. R. Lunk, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

BARRE AS SEEN BY MASSACHUSETTS EDITOR

Looks to Chelsea (Mass.) Evening Record Like a Prosperous Place and He States Why.

Barre as it appears to a Massachusetts editor, S. H. Robie, is described as follows in the Chelsea (Mass.) Evening Record of Nov. 3:

"Barre, Vt., located more than 200 miles north of Boston, the home of the far-famous Barre granite, is one of the most prosperous and enterprising of the smaller cities of New England. The citizens take a justifiable pride in the prominence that Barre has attained as 'the granite center of the world,' and they are looking forward to a further development of that great industry. The supply of granite seems inexhaustible. The formations are mountain high. The length of time that the quarries have already been worked, and the amount produced and shipped to all points in this and other countries, hardly makes a dent in the vast area yet to be worked. Railroad tracks are laid to the quarries, and modern machinery aids the workmen in getting out the orders. The granite is transported to the sheds, where it is made into the finished product. Plain, ornamental and polished designs known to the trade, are worked out by the designers and workmen. The class of work produced is, however, mostly for monuments.

"Owing to inability to get cars, there was recently nearly $3,000,000 worth of granite awaiting shipment, and the present needs require the daily supply of 30 cars. Every branch of business in the city has felt the stimulus of the granite industry. There are several prosperous banks, the stores are up-to-date, the principal streets are kept in fine condition, and there is an air of thrift and progress on every hand. The president of the International Monumental Granite Producers' association, Mr. S. Hollister Jackson, resides in Barre, and he was unanimously elected to that important position at a big convention held in Columbus, Ohio, last August. Mr. Jackson, besides being a well-known and successful attorney, is largely interested in the granite industry, and his election to that important position is looked upon by the citizens, not only as a tribute to Mr. Jackson's ability, but a recognition of their city and its great industry.

"Barre Boosters."

"Barre business men are home city boosters and the hand of 'welcome to our city' is always extended to the stranger within their gates. As the traveler steps inside of the city's modern Hotel Barre, he is made to feel at home. Even on the menu card there appear these words, 'Our home is your home,' and the idea is carried out from the boy who runs the elevator to the manager. The food is excellent, the service AI and the house itself is clean and homelike throughout. The hotel seems to reflect the spirit of the community.

"Barre has a newspaper, the Daily Times, conducted by Mr. Frank E. Laddley, who has a credit to the city. It has an excellent news service, covers the local field thoroughly, has a modern equipment, and 'booms Barre.' Mr. Langley went to that city more than 20 years ago, and established his daily paper. He must have had a vision of what was coming. He struggled, he worked hard and persevered. Then came the opening up and development of the city's principal industry. He is still 'on the job' and has the satisfaction of seeing his enterprise grow and prosper.

"A new industry, the Peerless Knitting Mills Co., having a plant at Mattapan, this state, is building a branch factory at Barre. The citizens have taken a large amount of stock in the concern, and the foundation for the new mill is now being laid. This will give the city an industry entirely different from the one upon which it principally depends.

"Soldiers' Memorial."

"Barre has been studying the question of a suitable memorial for its former service men, and this is a matter of interest to Chelsea. The sum of $50,000 has been appropriated for such a memorial. It is not to be a building, or a room in any other building now erected or to be erected. Interested citizens have decided that the only fitting memorial is one that not only commemorates the services of those who fought and died, but one that presents to public view in a prominent place in the city, the principle for which the war was fought and won. They intend to have the memorial represent a patriotic idea, something to impress upon the minds of those who see it the thought of American ideals—a permanent memorial to a victory, and the victors—and a beacon light to inspire and guide the people in the maintenance of that liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"The citizens of Barre decided that a building would not be suitable to carry out their idea, that it would seldom be visited, and that the cost of the maintenance would be a large item. It is claimed that such a building would be a museum and not a memorial. Other reasons are given to support the action taken.

"A victory arch was erected on the principal street for the welcome home celebration to the service men. It is 48 feet high and occupies a space 14x30 feet on the ground. The plan was designed and drawn by a Barre artist, and is a classic expression of the idea of victory. The arch and figures thereon are made of plaster of Paris on a wooden frame. It was erected in 13 days after the awarding of the contract. Competitive designs will be submitted for the permanent memorial."

HOW TO LIVE A HUNDRED YEARS.

Eat Dandelion Leaves, Eggs, Cow's Milk, Honey and Salads.

London, Oct. 7 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Josiah Oldfield, known internationally as a physician and writer, has published a prescription for keeping old age at bay.

According to him, it is not a question of an operation but a daily diet, which includes dandelion leaves, fowl's eggs, grapes, lettuce, cow's milk, honey and salads (uncooked).

Dr. Oldfield considers that a normal person rightly fed should live from 90 to 105 years of age.

Tested 250,000 Miles Three-Point Cantilever Springs Greatest Improvement Since Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been put through the most thorough and severe test possible.

250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Cantilever Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Spring-base gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to Marshall Divan Spring Upholstery.

HARDWICK

C. F. Davis and A. A. Carr were business visitors at the county seat Thursday.

At the regular meeting of the W. R. C., held at the Memorial building on Thursday afternoon, it was decided to hold the corps fair the first week in December.

Mrs. Lois Mack left Friday morning for her winter's visit with her children in Dover, Delaware. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Doby will occupy her house during Mrs. Mack's absence.

Roy H. Wark left the last of this week for Boston, after which he will go to Philadelphia, Pa., to take a course of study.

C. A. Stanford was a business visitor in St. Johnsbury Friday.

Don't forget the military ball at the gymnasium next week Tuesday evening given by and for the benefit of the newly organized Hardwick post of the American Legion. A fine time is anticipated and the hall will be appropriately decorated.

Mrs. Grace Cass is visiting relatives in St. Johnsbury for a few days.

Lynn Andrus and wife have begun housekeeping in the Haire house on High street.

The two-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Smith died Thursday of pneumonia and was buried Friday in Fairview cemetery.

Gonzalo Perroz, who lives in a tenement in what is known as the Atwell house on the hill, has purchased the property.

Milton Jamieson begins work Monday in the MacKendler meat market.
